On January 1, 2004, the third phase of the Personal Information Protection and Electronic Documents Act (PIPEDA) came into effect. This Canadian federal government act governs information collected as part of commercial activity by any private sector organization (Wilderness Spirit Adventures Ltd.). It states that information must be gathered with consent, collected for a reasonable purpose, used for the limited purposes for which it was gathered, be accurate, be open for the owner's inspection and correction, and be stored securely.

Wilderness Spirit Adventures Ltd. already maintains a high level of security with respect to the confidentiality of your records but we are now obligated by law to advise and obtain consent to the terms of the collection, distribution and storage of your data.

If you consent to allow Wilderness Spirit Adventures Ltd. to collect your personal information and allow us to store this information securely please sign immediately following this paragraph.
